BACK TO NATURE

Mulberry Gardens at North Gate Park has the magical air of a place you'll want to keep all to yourself. With green pathways, open lawns and beautiful mulberry trees, you could easily spend hours here. You're in the city, yet refreshingly protected from its bustle.

North Gate Park is nestled in the carefully tended gardens that date back to the 1920s. Seven heritage buildings have been brought back to life and the gardens are bound by the historic wall, preserving as much of the existing materials as possible.

The features around you have been designed with nature in mind. Our cycle storage incorporates biodiverse habitats. Natural features like logs become a place to rest, play or exercise. Timber planters for growing food also double up as benches, so you can read your book while breathing in the smell of fresh rosemary. Sustainability is truly present in every detail.

INSIDE A SECRET GARDEN

The original garden at North Gate Park was laid out by a Royal Botanic Gardens, Kew horticulturist in 1920. We have expanded it to provide more room to wander and play, making your home a true London oasis. Today, Mulberry Gardens has tripled in size and there are additional green spaces at North Gate Park, including play areas, residents' podium gardens and leafy pathways – not to mention the private gardens to every house and balconies to every apartment.

The native English trees growing on the grounds have been lovingly preserved and celebrated in the garden design. Not just ecologically important, they carry great cultural significance and give North Gate Park its unmistakable character. You'll admire beautiful thorn trees, birches and sycamores as well as fragrant pear trees that blossom in spring.

Nature is at the forefront of design, each phase has been named after a native English tree that can be found in the grounds: Thorn Park, Birch Grove, Sycamore Place and Pear Court.

A HOME FOR EVERYONE

PEABODY AND HILL WORKING IN PARTNERSHIP TO DELIVER NORTH GATE PARK

North Gate Park is an exceptional new development of one, two, three and four bedroom homes in the London Borough of Haringey, brought to life by a joint venture between Hill and Peabody.

This collaboration marries the strengths of two of the UK's most respected placemakers, promising a unique blend of modern living, historical charm and community spirit.

Hill, an award-winning housebuilder, has been creating outstanding homes and close-knit communities across Cambridgeshire, London and the South East for the past 25 years. It is now the UK's second-largest privately owned housebuilder and has garnered a strong reputation for delivering both private and affordable homes.

The company's dedication to excellence is evidenced by its six consecutive years of 5-star status in the Home Builders Federation's Customer Satisfaction Survey and over 500 industry accolades, including the prestigious Housebuilder of the Year at the WhatHouse Awards in 2023.

Peabody, with a legacy spanning over 160 years, is one of the oldest and most respected not-for-profit housing associations in the UK. The Peabody Group oversees more than 107,000 homes and serves around 220,000 residents across London and the Home Counties.

Renowned for its commitment to building high-quality homes with sustainable features, Peabody focuses on promoting economic inclusion, tackling inequality and enhancing the wellbeing of its residents.

Following the success of partnering on the award-winning Fish Island Village in Hackney Wick and Motion in Waltham Forest, together, Hill and Peabody are transforming this area of Haringey through a blend of vibrancy and tranquillity that will define North Gate Park. This flagship development is set around the picturesque Mulberry Gardens, seamlessly integrating contemporary homes with energy-efficient features and refurbished Victorian buildings. These existing historic spaces will house a range of essential amenities, such as a proposed nursery, supermarket, gym, community venue and affordable shared offices. Additionally, the existing water tower on the site will be revitalised and transformed into a proposed climbing wall and café.

The development is ideally situated, offering excellent transport links with nearby Haringay Green Lanes and Seven Sisters underground stations, as well as local amenities.

At North Gate Park, Hill and Peabody aim to create a vibrant community that will stand the test of time, while championing inclusivity and accessibility for all.

Explore the exceptional living spaces at North Gate Park and discover how this unique partnership can help you find your perfect home.
